

Cam Velucci Photography — Maternity & Motherhood Brochure

OPENING STATEMENT

STORY-LED PHOTOGRAPHY FOR

whole-hearted families

I believe

I am here to honour this transformative season — the waiting and the wondering, the nerves alongside the excitement, a body doing something extraordinary, the peace, the chaos, a mother being born. I want to create a space for you to feel exactly as strong and capable as you are, celebrating this season for exactly what it is.

[A full-page, real, in-the-moment image here]

MY APPROACH

What's important to me

One of the most powerful things about this season is watching yourself become a mother — the wonder, the anticipation, a body doing something extraordinary.

That's exactly what I want to capture in your session: the waiting, the tenderness, the undeniable bond.

During our time together

I want your session to feel like a quiet exhale. I am not there to direct every moment, just to hold space for you as you are right now. This season makes magic out of ordinary moments: a hand resting on your bump, the in-between glances, the quiet closeness.

I always give us plenty of time so nothing feels rushed. I'll gently guide things here and there, but really, what I'm creating is a record of you, exactly as you are, in this exact season of your life.

What I won't be doing

- Telling you to stay still or hold a pose. I'm capturing things as they actually happen, so the whole session flows rather than becoming a sequence of set-ups.

- Using generic props. I'll encourage you instead to bring things that matter — a partner's hand on your bump, an heirloom, the announcement you've been sitting on. Nothing is ever just for show.

["What made you say yes when Cam first reached out?" — testimonial to slot in here once you have your first]

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Do I need to tidy the house before an in-home session? Not a deep clean, no — a lived-in home is exactly what makes these photos feel like you. It just helps to clear a little space to move around in, and tuck away anything that adds mess rather than character.

What is the best time in my pregnancy to book? Most people book between 28 and 36 weeks, when the bump is fully rounded and you're still feeling comfortable. If you're expecting multiples, a little earlier — around 26-30 weeks — is worth considering.

Can my partner (and other children) be part of the session? Absolutely! This is about your family's story, and that includes everyone in it.

I'm nervous about how I look right now. Will I feel comfortable? Completely understandable, and very common. Your body is doing something extraordinary, and my hope is that you feel proud of it, not just photographed. We'll chat before your session about anything on your mind, so you feel supported every step of the way.